

Meet Your Trustee Candidates

(Editors note: The Herald asked the ten candidates for the Cameron school board election for a statement on their views as a candidate. The following are statements from the candidates who replied.)

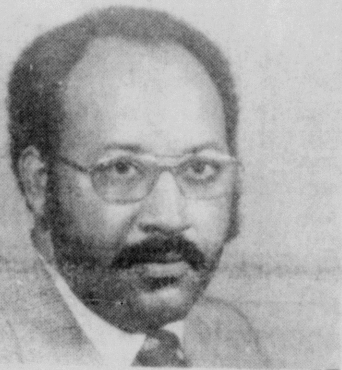

Lee Roy Daskocil

I am forty years old, married, and have three children. I am a conservation contractor and rancher. I was raised in the Westphalia community, and have lived in the Clarkson community for eleven years.

I am seeking a position on the school board because I have two children in the Cameron Public School system at the present time and also I would like to see a balance of rural and city representation on our school board.

I am for quality education for all of the children in our school system. I favor the continuation of our present education system which has proved to be solid but I would like to see needed improvements in some areas.

Rufus T. Floyd

I am a graduate of O. J. Thomas and Prairie View A&M College with a Bachelor Degree in Business Administration and a minor in Economics.

I am interested in the success of all the students in this system; therefore, I am willing to do everything possible, working along with other members of the school board in helping improve all areas of our school system.

In achieving the utmost of quality education, every student from kindergarten thru the twelfth grade should see interest and accomplishments of our administration, teachers, school board, parents, and other citizens.

Billy Hornung

(No picture available.)

I have been a resident of the City of Cameron for the past 28 years as a partner in the Hornung Hatchery. My wife, Doris Nell, is a graduate of Yoe High.

We have two sons, David, who is in his second year at Temple Junior College and Gary who will graduate in June of this year.

I have been on the Cameron School Board for the past six years and have helped in a small way to broaden our study program for both the college bound student and the student who plans not to attend college.

We now have a well rounded athletic program for boys, a good hand program for all students who are interested and beginning 1975-76 will have girls basketball, volleyball, and track for both the high school and junior high girls. We have completed the first two steps of our long range building program and will enter in building our science plant in the next few months.

I have always tried to put our school in three areas: one, have good teachers; second, good plant and equipment for our students; and last but not least wisely spending our taxpayers money. This has not always been easy in this day of inflation and rising cost of all services.

Dana Kestenbaum

(No picture available.)

I am most happy to have this opportunity to thank the people of the Cameron Independent School District for having let me serve on your school board for the past three years. It has been a rewarding experience, and I am grateful for the wonderful association I have had with the other board members, school administration and teachers; they are beautiful, dedicated people.

Our school system is full of people who continually serve their community. My only purpose in running again is that I, also, may be of some service to this community.

Some of my hopes for the future of our school system are as follows:

That we strive for excellence in all our students, not just those who are exceptional. We cannot all win, but we can do our best--this is what counts.

That we expand our vocational program. Since the majority of our students do not go to college, we need to better prepare them to hold decent jobs.

That we continue to expand our physical education program so that all of our students--girls as well as boys--have an opportunity to develop physically.

That we continue our long range plans to up-grade our physical facilities.

There are approximately 3,100 voters in our school district. I hope that a large percentage of them will show their interest in their school system by voting on April 5, 1975. All of the candidates in this election are dedicated people who love their school, so for whomever you vote, it will be a vote for your school and your children.

Charles Kunz

Charles W. Kunz is a Cameron product having attended Cameron schools. After graduation from Yoe High, Charlie served with the U. S. Navy during World War II, and returned to continue his education at Blinn Junior College and Texas A&M where he received his B. S. degree in Vocational and Industrial Education.

Charlie is a self-employed businessman, operating the Kunz Plating Mill for the past 18 years. He is active in his church and is director of the church's Youth Education program. Charlie is also very active in community organizations. He is past president of the Evening Lions Club and Folk Fete, Inc. and is active in the Knights of Columbus, the American Legion, and is a Director of the Chamber of Commerce. Charlie also serves on the Community Planning Board and is the director for the Famous Cameron German Folk Dancers.

Charlie offers his experience and background as well as a desire to further serve the community as a member of the Cameron School Board of Trustees.

Roselee Mondrik

Mrs. Roselee Mondrik is a High School graduate of the Oakland Public School System in California. Married to Joseph L. Mondrik Sr., she has been a resident in Texas since 1959. Her reasons for announcing candidacy are:

"With six children in the Cameron schools, I have vital interest in the continued advancement of our school system. I feel there has been a noticeable improvement in our schools in the past year and I believe I can contribute positive ideas for the continued upward trend. My enthusiastic interests are varied to cover all phases of education in our schools. We must continue to excel and look with pride in our stride."

"I would like to help the young people of our schools by contributing ideas and possible solutions to the various situations that arise during the course of attaining a high school diploma."

"Team work begins at the top and I am willing to serve on our school board with conscientious integrity. We have the capacity for growth and the essence of our progress will depend on the confidence we have in knowing the right attitude with positive, honest and open thinking is used to attain goals. A difference in temperaments, talents, and abilities all working harmoniously together will make the best of what we need to see to it that our children have the best that we can offer while attending our school system. Someday they will look back with pride and say, "Yes, I attended school in Cameron and it was great."

Keith Raine

(No picture available.)

I am running for the school board because I would like to serve our students. I would like to help contribute and to provide our students with the necessary materials and environment to improve their scholastic abilities and develop each and every one for their future adulthood plans.

I have no political or economic motives and feel that I can contribute my share.

Bob Terry

(No picture available.)

I am a graduate of Yoe High School and Delta State University with majors in Physical Education and Business Administration.

I own and operate the Elm Grove Club, a Private Club and Restaurant north of the city.

I have three children in school, two in high school, and one in junior high.

I am running for a position on the Cameron Independent School Board because I love Cameron and the Cameron Schools are a very real part of our community.

I think we are approaching a very critical time in the Cameron Independent School District. If we do not improve our existing facilities, we are faced with losing our accreditation, which means we would lose all state and federal funds, which also means we could lose our school system.

As a taxpayer, myself, I hate higher taxes as much as anyone. I think the time has come that we need businessmen on our school board to squeeze every nickel out of every dollar of tax money we can.

Joe Walzel

As a citizen in the CISD and a graduate of Yoe High School, I have submitted my name as a candidate for the school board because I want to do more than pay taxes. I am interested in serving the district, not only for my children, but for all students, school personnel, and people in the district. Being elected would give me this opportunity.

The CISD is a large business, but it is not a business in the ordinary sense. It is a very special business in which people are working with people. The heart of the school program is the pupil learning situation under the guidance of teachers. Every effort should be made to encourage and keep the best teachers.

Were it financially possible, the ideal physical school plant will not assure an education. Each age level has needs and the overall program should be a continuing learning process. The talent, training, and experiences of all school personnel should be utilized in making decisions.

Although long-range plans are a necessity, plans need to be considered in terms of the best education possible for present students, too. Upon graduation each should be prepared to pursue a life of his own, whether it is additional schooling or a job. For those going directly into jobs, a background in vocational areas is needed.

As a teacher I have had a look from the inside of the school business. Combining this with an outside look will help me serve better as a board member.

I attend the Presbyterian Church, am a member of the Evening Lions Club, a graduate of Texas A&M, and am presently self-employed in livestock production.

School Elections Set

A school trustee election is set for Cameron on Saturday, April 5 and other area cities will hold both city and school elections on that day.

Candidates include incumbents Billy Hornung and Dana Kestenbaum, who are seeking re-election and others are James Beasley, Keith Raine, Roselee Mondrik, Charles Kunz, Rufus T. Floyd, Joe Walzel, Lee Roy Koskocil, and Bob Terry.

Buckholts voters will also decide whether or not they wish the district to become an independent district or remain as a rural high school district.

In the Milano school election Saturday, four candidates are running for two places on the board. Incumbents Melvin Graham and J. C. Hayman are seeking re-election and first time candidates are Christine (Tina) Pratt and Carroll Davidson.

James T. Todd and D. S. Smith are candidates in the Gause school board election.

Three Rockdale candidates have filed for Place 1 in the city election including Milton Holmes, Jim Lane, and Glynn Rolan; and for Place 2, Johnny Gebhart, Robert Lawhon, and incumbent John Sonntag.

Three candidates are seeking election to two places on the Rockdale school board. They include Glen Beyer, M. A. Rozell, and board president W. P. (Red) Hogan, who is seeking a new three-year term.

At Rosebud, four men have filed for two vacancies on Rosebud's city council and two have filed for mayor. Incumbent Clarence Wolf and Gabriel Zipperlen have filed for mayor.

Howard P. Linn, James Worthy, Willie L. Scheffer, and incumbent R. J. Brannon have filed for the two vacancies on the council.

Rosebud-Lott school trustee election will also be held April 5 with two seats up for election. Filing for re-election are Monroe Parcus of Rosebud and Gary Conners of Lott. Others who have filed for the places are Mrs. A. T. Voltin and Mrs. Gabriel Zipperlen of Rosebud, and Leon Buhl of Lott.

Lumpkin, Kahler Tie For Election To City Council

In the city election held Tuesday, there was a tie vote of 200 to 200 for incumbent councilman Gene Lumpkin and James Kahler. Mrs. Lilly Hunter, running for the same place, polled 92 votes. Council will meet Monday to set date for the runoff.

In other results, incumbent councilman Lawrence Zottz, unopposed, received 457 votes and Mrs. Janet Luecke, also unopposed, received 450 votes. A total of 501 votes was cast.

Council, meeting after polls closed, heard Mrs. O. B. Horstmann ask for indemnity from any future injuries which may be caused by a fireplug in the middle of the sidewalk in front of Horstmann's Tire Store. The city attorney will check into it and report at the next meeting. Moving the fireplug was discussed.

A motion to approve a special use permit for a mobile home at Fannin and 22nd died for lack of a second.

Low bid for tax invoices and envelopes was awarded to an Austin firm. Council also authorized repair to the roof of a building at the city swimming pool and voted to abandon the alley behind Citizens Bank.

A previous motion to require curb and gutter on all streets paved was amended to include "where feasible."

Benefit Fund Started For Keith Humprik

Interested citizens in Cameron have started a benefit fund for Keith Humprik who has spent weeks in Scott and White Hospital very critically ill.

There will be several fund raising activities engaged in to raise money to help with the financial drain that this family is experiencing.

The first of these activities will be a bake sale on April 4 from 1 until 6 p.m. The sale booths will be located in front of both banks and the Ben Franklin store. If anyone would like to contribute baked goods for this sale, please call 697-2976 or 697-2378 or bring contributions by one of the sales stands on the day of the sale.

There have been accounts opened in both banks in the name of The Keith Humprik Fund. If anyone would like to make contributions directly to that fund, they may do so.

This is a community effort to help a family of ours who is experiencing some dire problems in their lives.

Martin ran seventh in an 880 meter day in a junior high school track meet in Rockdale, then some minutes later finished second in the 70-yard high to a Rockdale hurdler who, it is said, is winning a lot of hurdle events.

That's the kind of stuff we talk about all the time. I put Martin at a disadvantage because he is mentioned in print, and is expected to perform at a high level.

He has been leading seventh graders in OJT Mid-School in a combination gymnastic - strength program. And he is not the largest of the group by far.

For the record, I used to run track in junior high before taking up serious tennis in the spring of my sophomore year. As it happened, I ran the quarter mile and highs as a freshman in Indiana, ran sprints, 440-yard relay and high jump Kramer Junior High, Washington, D.C., which won the city championship that year, and the short dash events and low hurdles as a seventh grader in Ohio.

Martin is a better geared youngster than his dad. But all that junior high track served its stead in competitive tennis throughout the Midwest.

I was fortunate to develop a power game in tennis despite being only medium sized. Track and football helped. But the Australians are masters of power tennis and several are smaller than I am.

All this enabled a three-year team record in Indiana high school tennis of 28-1, three years varsity tennis

Woman Dies Of Burns In Ben Arnold Home

Mrs. August Boecker, 88, of Ben Arnold died Sunday morning in a fire at her home.

Cameron Justice of the Peace Jess Brock said he pronounced the woman dead at the scene at about 7:15 a.m. Sunday and ruled the death accidental. He said her clothes apparently caught on fire at about 6 a.m. when she was cooking breakfast. She was found by a neighbor, Billy Seaton, who extinguished the fire and called authorities.

Neighbors were puzzled as to how Mrs. Boecker's clothes caught fire as she used an electric stove and was cooking oatmeal for breakfast. The stove was turned over, leading neighbors to believe she tried to pull the stove from the wall and unplug it.

Mrs. Boedeker had lived in Ben Arnold for 67 years.

Funeral was held at 2 p.m. Monday in the United Church of Christ in Ben Arnold with Minister C. E. Wierth officiating. Burial was in Ben Arnold Cemetery.

Surviving are a son, C. E. Boecker of Buckholts; a daughter, Mrs. Walter (Anita) Rathke of Blieblerville; five sisters, Mrs. Augusta Eden, Mrs. Leo Links, Mrs. Paul Luedke, and Mrs. Frieda Wittenben, all of Rosenberg; and Mrs. Alma Ludke of Bellville; 8 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

Same Uncertainties Pound...

The will to stay in South-east Asia evaporated in this country several years ago. And now an alternative to internecine communist nationalism evaporates.

Whatever the props we provided, lives we lost, billions we spent, the U. S. is seeing the demise of intervention our European cousins advised against, Southeast Asian colonialists that they were.

Cambodia is gone. Most of Vietnam, north of Saigon, soon will be gone.

So much U. S. creditability dipped in Vietnam blood and agony is up for reappraisal among governments everywhere. We see now the size of our mistake.

But we may also see the size of our detente which emerged by the Viet-U.S. stand into 1972. Russia and China confront one another along a vast contiguous front, perhaps 1,500 miles long.

Who is to say World War III was not averted by this enormous, but localized war? Some say events attend the prospect of a new global stage, not unlike events portending World War II.

This country is going isolationist, because its foreign policy compressed our economy in guns-and-butter overburden. Even this great country could not field a half-million troops for a half dozen years while struggling with civil disorders of massive scale in metropolitan centers.

Now where should we go?

The decision is comparable to the sort facing us after the U.S. won a European land war and an Asian sea war. The domino theory took us into alliances with groups of nations and single nations opposite the communist bloc. Detente took us into negotiation with the communist bloc while we struggled with their regional chieftans.

Some of those chieftans are going to control Southeast Asia. They will have to establish relations with the outside world, not only the Red bloc. If they are truly nationalists, though communist, they will invite in U.S. technology, just like oil-laden Arabs invite.

If we isolate, we shall do little if any of that. The private sector of this country, hurting for markets to sustain our enormous industrial machine, may find outlets we could not destroy through our military-industrial complex.

We must stay in part with the South Viets. For Henry Kissinger is right, even invoking the domino theory: He says our foreign policy will be reevaluated in light of what happened in South-east Asia.

There is an inter-relationship of nations, regions, and blocs of the world. Our neo-isolationists find justification for pulling in because in southeast Asia the U.S. war machine is pulling out.

It would be nice to find comfort in our doomsday machines or escape in our vast open spaces. But the same oceans ebbtide at our shores, the same atmosphere shelters this globe from an unfriendly outer space and the same uncertainties pound in the minds of three and one-half billion people.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

WOULD BAN UDDERS,
SPLEENS IN HOT DOGS

Rep. William D. Ford (Mich.) "Today, I am joined by the entire Michigan delegation in reintroducing legislation which will permit States to enforce more stringent meat standards than the minimum Federal standards."

"Ever since 1952, when the Michigan State Legislature enacted into law the Commuted Meat Act, the consumers of Michigan have enjoyed some of the highest meat standards in the Nation. That Act applies specifically to hot dogs, lunch meats, and sausages, as well as various other meats."

"However due to the ambiguity in the language of the Federal Meat Inspection Act of 1967 and to ensuing court suits, Michigan's high meat standards have recently been rendered inoperative by the courts.

"The demise of Michigan's meat standards began in 1971 when three large out-of-State meat packing firms brought suit against the State of Michigan Agriculture Department because they felt the State law was unconstitutional."

"This resulted in litigation until 1973 when the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review a circuit court decision striking down the provision of Michigan's Commuted Meat Act."

"Thus, out-of-State packers are now permitted to sell in Michigan hot dogs, bologna, lunch meats, and sausages containing such waste matter as udders, spleens, salivary glands, snouts, and various other offal which previously were not permitted in meats sold in Michigan."

"When I introduced this bill in the last session of Congress it was advocated by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, by civic groups throughout the State, and by local, State and national consumer groups."

Further, it received the support of several meat packers, it was advocated by major television stations in the Detroit area and called for in Fortune magazine. . .

"I strongly urge the adoption of this legislation (H. R. 4378) which will permit us to continue enforcing our own meat standards."

CRUMP'S GRASS
ROOTS COMMENT

Michigan amended the law and we quote, "federal-inspected meats not meeting the ingredient requirements of this act must be prominently identified in the display area. . . the identification shall consist of a sign not less than 18 by 24 inches, with a heading to read: 'The following products do not meet Michigan's high meat ingredient standards, but do meet the lower federal standards.'"

Other States may have their high meat standard regulations challenged in the courts.

Constitutional Revision Is Making Rounds Again

Constitutional revision, widely regarded as an almost impossible task for the legislature this year, may be moving along faster than any of the session's "big three" items.

Revision panels of the House and Senate voted out proposals almost identical to the document which failed by three votes in the 1974 Constitutional Convention. Education finance reform and utilities regulation have not moved so far so fast.

Senators brought up the plan Tuesday (April 1) for floor consideration on an article-by-article basis.

The House is expected to follow the same procedure.

A two-thirds vote will be necessary on each article before it can be submitted to the voters for approval or rejection in a statewide election next November.

None of the controversial "separate submission" items like right-to-work—which split and doomed the 1974 convention—are included in the present resolutions.

Apparently, if article-by-article revision fails, the legislature will offer a plan for a new citizens' convention to try its hand at revision next year.

PRIMARY ADVANCES

Drive for a Texas presidential preference primary gathered momentum in spite of some stubborn opposition from political convention-oriented liberals and George Wallace supporters.

The Senate State Affairs Committee gave its approval to a revised and improved version of the House-passed primary bill, and quick Senate passage was anticipated.

The measure still calls for a vote in May on presidential candidates who decide to enter the Texas primary. Seventy-five per cent of the state's presidential nominating delegates will be named on a senatorial (or congressional) district basis. Another 25 per cent will be selected in state party conventions in accordance with the percentage of the vote various candidates received in the primary.

An objectionable feature of the House bill which would have required candidates to file slates of delegates in all 31 senatorial districts to get on the ballot at all was removed. Liberal provisions also were made for uncommitted delegates to run individually or as a slate.

SPEED LIMIT SAME

Legislators finally agreed on, and the governor signed, legislation extending the 55 miles per hour speed limit to comply with federal policies and save $303 million a year in federal highway aid.

A threatened deadlock was quickly broken in the face of threats of heavy loss of federal funds. The present 55 mph law would have expired April 1.

COURTS SPEAK

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals held a cashier in an El Paso bookstore could not be convicted for sale of an obscene magazine after being declared innocent in sale of an alleged obscene film in the same transaction.

Texas Supreme Court turned down a Panola County man's contention that he was defrauded of royalties when producers drilling on his property did not tell him or the Railroad Commission of an oil strike in the Burnett Sand of Travis Peak reservoir. The high court upheld a Waco

Court of Civil Appeals ruling that a Hamilton County property owner was entitled to $7,500 damages from a company which allowed turkey feathers to cover his land and runoff water to pollute his wells and troughs.

AG OPINIONS

Campaign contributions made after an election are defensible under the penal code, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Poll watchers cannot be paid from labor union dues.

A school, under the open records act, should make public names and addresses of students' parents and guardians on request.

Prisoners in federal correctional institutions may demonstrate Texas residence for college tuition purposes if they intend to remain in the state after release.

County commissioners may create new justice of the peace precincts from existing precincts and appoint the j.p. to fill a vacancy.

Adopted and illegitimate children may not be excluded from the free State Infant Immunization Program.

OLD

Dear editor:

I have been reading articles in the newspapers and magazines about how school kids aren't learning as much as they used to -- that is, about scholastic things, not some other things. On those other things they may be ahead of most of us.

But on scholastics, over the past 12 years the average grade on the Scholastic Aptitude Test high school graduates take before entering college has dropped 38 points, based on tests of one million students, so you can see if anybody in Cameron made a low grade he's not by himself, the situation prevails all over the nation for high school graduates entering college. There are no entrance requirements for Congress.

This decline in students' knowledge has a lot of people worried and there's considerable clamor to do something about it. Some want to go back to basic teaching, some want to get better teachers, some better school boards, and some just wring their hands. Nobody apparently has thought of getting better students.

But I think I have the solution.

There is a private school in New York whose sole purpose is to teach politicians and leaders of industry and business how to answer questions on television. Well, it's not exactly how to answer questions, it's how to dodge them without getting flustered or stepping on anybody's toes.

For example, you ask any candidate now running for the nomination for President in 1976 if he'd accept say George Wallace or George Meany or Ralph Nader as a running mate and if he has been trained properly it'll take him five minutes to discuss the democratic process and how far in the future 1976 is and what the country needs to do to unite and this nation is big enough for all shades of opinion and what's the next question.

Or if the question is about something he doesn't know anything about, he'll say "it'd be inappropriate for me to go into that."

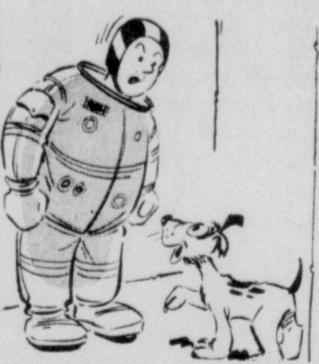

Or ask say an oil executive if he thinks a 100 per cent increase in profits by his company during the oil embargo last year wasn't a little high and if he's been to that school he'll give you a string of statistics so long that by the time he's through everybody has forgotten what the question was and is sorry it was asked.

Listen to "Meet The Press" or "Face The Nation" and see if you don't think they should be re-named "Dodge The Question" and "Two - Face The Nation."

I'll tell you, a man's got to go to a mighty good school to answer a question about Viet Nam by discussing the Alaska pipe line, or one about what he'd do if he were President by deploring unemployment.

I've often thought reporters ought to stop asking people on television oral questions, they ought to just submit a true - or - false written exam and read off the answers. Anyway, if that school in New York can attain such success with public figures, it might be interesting to see it have a go at public education. I've never seen a school so efficient in reaching its goals.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Twin Seeded Sorghum Test

By Bill McCutchen

Twin seeded grain sorghum, one of the hopes for revolutionizing grain sorghum production, is included in a variety demonstration in the county this year.

Frank Kratochvil is the cooperator in this demonstration and the variety plot is on the Jink's farm at the crossroads north of Cameron on Highway 77.

Dr. Fred Miller of Texas A&M furnished a small amount of seed for this year's demonstration. The twin seeded varieties hold the possibility of increasing production by 20 to 30% over standard varieties according to researchers. Two seeds are produced in each glume as compared to one seed for normal sorghums.

The twin-seeded varieties are not without their problems at this stage however, and it may be a few years before twin seeded grain sorghum is available through seed companies. The main problem at present is in pollination. Researchers feel that this problem can be handled, but it will take a little time.

Greenbugs reported

Light infestations of greenbugs in young grain sorghum were reported from fields in the Branchville Little River bottom. Some spraying was also reported.

Plants up to about 6 inches in height should be treated when visible damage is noted and greenbug colonies are observed. It is common to find a few scattered greenbug colonies on endrows so the entire field should be checked for an accurate evaluation.

Beneficial insects in most fields observed seem heavy enough to ward off heavy damage, but fields should be watched closely. It is also important that producers know the difference between the corn leaf aphid and greenbug. Corn leaf aphids seldom cause economic damage and in most cases should not be treated while the greenbug can destroy stands.

Materials recommended for greenbug control in grain sorghum include Trithion, Systox, Diazinon, Di-Syston, Malathion, Parathion, Thimet, and Dimethoate. Check the labels for application rates and other instructions.

Vital Crop Protectors
 Experts estimate that more than half the U.S. crop output would be lost if there were no insecticides to combat the roughly 700,000 species that fly or crawl.

Who's Eating Hosiery?
 More hosiery is sold in food stores than in any other retail outlet.

Pork May Be Short
 A 15% decrease in pork production this spring is forecast by the USDA. The cutback is due largely to high feed prices and other rising costs.

Where's The Salad Bowl?
 California, Arizona, and Texas produce about 90% of the nation's lettuce supply.

Consumers To See New Beef Grades

After April 14 consumers will begin to see "a new face" on beef cuts in their favorite supermarket.

That's when new grade standards by the U. S. Department of Agriculture go into effect. Of course, the grades will only appear on meat graded by USDA graders, which is a voluntary service that meat packers must request.

The new grades are designed to keep meat quality at a high level and may help lower consumer costs.

"The major change in the grade standards is that all beef carcasses that are officially graded will be identified for both quality and yield," point out Woodrow Bailey and Dr. Frank Orts, meat specialists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "These two value grades will give a better determination as to the true worth of the carcass."

Another change, according to the specialists, will be that the conformation or shape of the carcass will no longer be a factor in determining the quality grade since it is not related to eating quality of the meat. However, conformation is indirectly used in yield grade determination.

With the new standards, beef carcasses up to 30 months of age will have the same minimum marbling (fat flecks among the lean meat) requirements in Prime, Choice, and Standard grades as now required for the youngest carcasses classified as "beef."

"This will mean more lean carcasses in these three grades since animals will probably be put through a shorter finishing period in feedlots. In turn, feeding costs should be reduced," believe Bailey and Orts.

Furthermore, a "new" Good grade has been established that allows for slightly more marbling in the younger animals up to 18 months of age. "Thus beef in the Good grade will be more uniform in quality," explain the Texas A&M University System specialists.

Backyard Fowl Flocks Increase

The backyard poultry flock, which had nearly vanished from the Texas scene, is once again the vogue as literally thousands of urbanites and farm families alike turn to the production of eggs and broilers for home consumption.

"Like home gardening, the backyard flock is enjoying its greatest popularity in over three decades," says Dr. William O. Cawley, poultry specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Many hatcheries dealing in small orders reported record sales last year."

However, backyard poultrymen looking to save money will be disappointed, contends Cawley. It is almost impossible for the small home flock to compete with large commercial operations. These firms buy and sell on the narrowest of margins, hoping to realize a profit from their volume business.

Some questions to consider before investing in a small flock of birds include these:

1. Do zoning ordinances or deed restrictions prevent the raising of poultry in your neighborhood?
2. Will some family member willingly tend to the birds each day?
3. Is necessary equipment and housing available? Consider the cost of items you must purchase.
4. Will your flock create odor, noise, or fly nuisances for neighbors?
5. Are you willing to slaughter and process your birds at home?
6. Are neighbors willing to purchase surplus eggs?

"Although these questions point out the disadvantages of owning a small flock, many persons receive a deep feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment from producing their own food," points out Cawley.

Daily chores associated with having live birds around may be of great value in teaching young people a sense of responsibility. Both broilers and layers make wonderful 4-H projects and require minimal space and investment.

"Many families are turning to bantams as a hobby," notes the Texas A&M specialist. "These beautiful colored, cocky miniatures of the barnyard make wonderful pets for children and adults of all ages. They come in all shapes, sizes, and colors. There is a breed of bantams to fit almost everyone's personality."

In addition to the esthetic value of the bantam culture, Cawley also points to the economic value of the little birds. Even though their eggs are somewhat fewer and smaller than their large sisters produce, bantams require less space and consume far less feed.

Bantam raisers may also enjoy the companionship and exchange of ideas which comes from entering their birds in competition at fairs and shows.

Further information on the exciting world of poultry can be obtained at any county Extension office, adds Cawley.

Cattle Eat Less Grain
 Three-fourths of the feed being used to produce beef in this country is grass, forage, and by-products. Cattle experts say the trend is toward still less grain.

Definition Of A Farm
 As spelled out by the U.S. Census Bureau, the official definition of a farm is a tract of 10 or more acres that produces at least $250 worth of commodities for sale. The tract can be smaller if the volume of crops and livestock produced is larger.

Irrigated Crops On Rise
 One-fourth of all farm products sold now originate on farms that are irrigated.

Farm Debts Mount
 Total farm debt in the U.S. has doubled twice in the last 15 years. By early 1975, it is estimated that American farmers will owe more than $100 billion.

Producers Cut Numbers

Seedstock producers are taking the lead in reducing the nation's cow herds, according to an announcement by the U. S. Beef Breeds Council. Reports indicate producers are cutting back cow numbers by more than 10% to help alleviate the extreme financial problems beef producers are experiencing.

The Council, representing 100,000 U. S. beef cattle seedstock producers, says that the 10 percent figure is the surplus number of cows in the country according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture statistics. The Council is urging voluntary cutbacks in all cow herds because cow numbers are in such great surplus they will be competing on the market with fed cattle for a long period of time unless cow numbers are adjusted to optimum numbers quickly.

"The amount of beef we're asking to be slaughtered immediately is about the same amount as is being imported," says Council President Orville K. Sweet, Kansas City, Mo.

The U. S. currently has the largest cattle herd, our basic beef factory, in history at 131.8 million head, according to the American National Cattlemen's Association. And 1974 beef production was a record 21 billion pounds. The results of culling is seen in the long run as a way to improve efficiency and productivity and will be good for the entire industry.

Planting Season Advances... A Million Here, A Million There... April 9 Wheat Forecast... Sheep, Lamb Feeding Lowest Since 1966

Planting of major crops throughout the state is about on schedule or ahead of this time a year ago. Cotton planting for the state is now nearing the 10 per cent completion mark. Sorghum planting is more than a fourth completed. Some fields were damaged to some extent by recent freezing weather in the south central part of the state.

About one-third of the corn acreage in the state has been planted. Peanut seeding is underway in South Texas. Wheat is making excellent growth on the High and Low Plains. Livestock movement off wheat and oat fields to feedlots has peaked. Livestock condition generally is fair to poor, as grazing becomes short in many areas. Heavy culling is underway in the north and eastern areas of the state and death losses continue to run above normal.

One of the few crops which is behind schedule in planting is rice. Less than five per cent of the crop has been planted in the state. Vegetable crops are making good progress. Cabbage, carrot and onion plants are being harvested in the San Antonio-Winter Garden area as well as the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Peaches are blooming in most areas of the state and pecan trees are budding in north central Texas. Citrus harvest is about completed.

WHERE ARE THOSE ONE MILLION acres that won't be planted to cotton in Texas this year going? Apparently, they will go into sorghum. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that cotton acres are expected to be down one million acres this year from last year, and that sorghum acres are to be up one million acres from last year.

Cotton acres this year are expected to total 4.3 million acres compared to 5.3 million acres in 1974. Sorghum acres are expected to total 8.5 million acres compared to 7.5 million acres in 1974.

Wheat acres in the state are set at 6.5 million acres compared to 5.6 a year ago.

APRIL 9 will be the date for a special winter wheat forecast for Texas only. The report is to be issued to give producers more information about prospects for the wheat crop.

SHEEP AND LAMB feeding in Texas is now at the lowest levels since 1966. Texas sheep and lambs on feed as of March 1 totaled 170,000 head. This is down 29 per cent from a year ago and is 17 per cent below Jan. 1. Even more significant, it is the lowest since 1966 when the total was 172,000.

Drylot operators with 2,000 head capacity or more had 62,000 head of the 170,000 sheep and lambs on feed. Sheep and lambs on feed are those intended for slaughter being fed a ration of grain or other concentrates or on succulent pastures and expected within the next three months to produce a carcass that will grade good or better.

Sheep and lambs placed on feed during January and February totaled 114,000 compared with only 30,000 head during the same months in 1974. Marketings of fed sheep and lambs during this period, at 148,000 head, were 18 per cent below the same period a year ago.

EARLY LAMB CROP in Texas this year totaled 770,000 head which is an increase of five per cent from last year's crop. The Jan. 1 inventory of ewes one year old and older was down 10 per cent.

The early lamb crop in three states—California, Kansas and Texas—was down two per cent from a year ago.

Farmers Cut Back Grain

The probability of continued depressed grain prices and lack of confidence in adequate governmental protection against soaring production costs are pushing grain sorghum producers to cut back on their plantings by as much as 25 percent.

Based on the current grain situation, officials of Grain Sorghum Producers Association believe acreage cutbacks from the March USDA intentions report are essential, if strong prices are to become a reality again.

GSPA mailed 5,200 survey cards to sorghum producers in five states of the sorghum production area. At press-time, 95 percent of farmers responding said they are ready to cut back on their plantings because of the existing price trends which have resulted in drops of as much as $2 per hundred pounds in the past three months.

Only five percent thus far have indicated they are not in favor of the program.

TEXAS TALK

By Skip Hobbs

This is the first week of TEXAS TALK and it seems appropriate to take this opportunity to explain a little about the column since now you'll be able to read it here every week.

Through this column, we'll take a look at agriculture. Hopefully, there will be some things you didn't know about, others you thought you knew but weren't quite sure about and without a doubt there will be observations and definitions some readers know a whole lot more about than the writer.

One thing is guaranteed... many readers will find something new every week... and to keep things even more interesting you will find an occasional hint about the easy way to solve a problem you may be having around the house or on the farm or ranch. Comments on the column will be appreciated. Anybody's... anytime.

See you here next week when we get down to serious TEXAS TALK.

Eastern Star Order To Hold 'Country Fair'

The Order of the Eastern Star will hold a "Country Fair," a benefit project for the purchase of a kidney machine, on Saturday, April 12 from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m. The fair will be located on the lot west of Texan Cafe, the Bassel Wilson property, which has been donated for the use of this project.

The wish of the Worthy Grand Matron of Texas is to have as many of these machines purchased through this project, which is being held all over Texas, and placed in as many hospitals in Texas as possible to meet the needs of all humanity. This section of the organization is very anxious to raise enough funds to have a machine placed in Cameron, Rockdale, Hearne, or Bryan, which would be available to all citizens. The cost of the machine is approximately $5,000.

Anyone who may have articles no longer needed in the home may donate these items to the Cameron Chapter to be sold at the fair. Anything will be accepted, from your "Grand Piano to a potato." Donations should be turned in by April 12. Those wishing to donate should bring their box of treasures ahead of this date to Montgomery Ward Company, or should call Montgomery Ward and leave their name and address so someone will pick up the donations: canned foods, fresh foods, kitchen utensils, dishes, flowers, paintings, bottles clothing - just anything and all is needed.

Visit the fair on April 12 and buy your neighbor's treasured possession which he has given to help other people.

Early Texan Art Is Endangered

The Texas Arts and Crafts Foundation in Kerrville is searching for Texans who actively work at pioneer Texas arts and crafts.

Many of these early crafts are in danger of being lost forever unless something is done to preserve them. Therefore, a section of the official Texas Arts and Crafts Fair has been designated Pioneer Village and devoted to the demonstration of the arts and crafts that shaped early Texas. The fair will be held July 4-5-6 in Kerrville, Texas, on the campus of Schreiner College.

If you or someone you know retains knowledge of an early Texan art of craft, the non-profit Texas Arts and Crafts Foundation would like to hear about it. Please send complete information to Texas Arts and Crafts Foundation, P.O. Box 1589, Kerrville, Texas 78028.

Bowman's Paintings And Drawings To Be On Exhibit

A selection of Jim Bowman's painting and drawings will be on exhibit at the Cameron Public Library throughout April.

(Editors note: The following review by Richard Mason originally appeared in "The Tulane Hullabaloo". Mr. Mason is a frequent visitor in Cameron and a well known Louisiana art and music critic.)

Jim Bowman is a quiet Texan with a straggly beard whose fantasies materialize in paint and charcoal explorations of the imagination, linear movement, and cubist spaces. His works are suggestive of the artists he especially admires and studies; Kandinsky ("one of my first influences"), Chagall, and Miro.

"I'm not interested in realism, I'm more attracted toward internal things," Bowman's realm is modern art yet, "there are a lot of modern movements I can't stand." He can best be described as an artist of fantastic cerebral images. He is quick to point out, however, that he is not a surrealist, "an illusion of realism" in his words.

Currently studying at the Kansas City Art Institute, he has also attended the University of Texas and spent last year living in Scotland and travelling in Europe.

Several of Bowman's paintings are deceptively simple at first glance. Large planes of color provide surfaces for long tentacle like writhings across the canvas. On closer inspection these tentacles expand and contract into abstract forms which solidify the composition of the pieces.

"Art should be close to life. The way a painting happens should be close to the way situations develop in life. I paint reductively--in the beginning the painting gets complicated and confused, but as it develops I make decisions as to what is important and then begin to make sense out of it compositionally."

Each painting has an underlying structure. Two have gothic structures in which every angle is balanced, making them indisputably solid and secure. The finished work may be entirely different than the original structure but the final form has developed because of that beginning.

The paint of Bowman's canvases is thick. He is not pursuing a specific textural effect though. His method involves applying layer upon layer of paint as he moves the painting through various stages of development. "Each stage sheds a new light on the painting but it keeps the original concept while the little things get more complex."

The charcoal drawings illuminate Bowman's ability in and appreciation of the medium. (He favors the traditional mediums of charcoal and oil paint because they are the most malleable and the most fluid). Fine textural variations accent the cubist figures and spaces while his Chagall like figures are softer and more mellow with the fantasy world slightly curved and distorted.

The subjects help define the mood of the drawings. The movement and texture may be light and carefree while the figure is warped and dejected creating an insoluble ambiguity.

Bowman sees art moving from three dimensional to two dimensional space. He cannot, however, bring himself to work with this new concept. "It doesn't seem honest, we are living in a three dimensional world."

Bill Matyastik, slamming an ace for the game, set, match, and tournament point clinched the title for the Trinity Tigers.

Matyastik jumped the net and came across with a winning yell as he played the must-win to bring the Tigers the 17th annual Rice Invitational Collegiate tennis tournament title.

Matyastik, the Waco junior used the power game to unwind the second place University of Houston's Ross Walker 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, and gave the Tigers the 18th point they needed for the championship.

The grueling tournament ended after six single matches and four double matches where Matyastik ended the tournament by defeating the superstar from Houston.

The win marked the ninth win for Trinity in the 17 Rice tournaments. This year Trinity has won tournaments at Pan American and Corpus Christi.

Matyastik stated after the match, "I wanted the match for personal reasons." The new singles champion and Trinity's last survivor in the tourney stated, "I also wanted the team title. I knew the only way we could win the title was for me to win that match. I was willing to stay out there forever, and do whatever it took to win."

Murray-Go-Round

QUICKIES:

Don't look now, but Jose Cruz, that Saint Louis throw-in, just might turn out to be a Big Leaguer in right field for the Astros! Houston, you know, has had many stars but few Big Leaguers. Speaking of the Astros, you'll miss a familiar byline in the Houston Post, since Joe Heiling, longtime hustler of the National League Club, has departed. At last count, the talented Heiling had not made another connection.

BIG JOHN:

Did you hear UCLA's John Wooden, perhaps the greatest basketball coach who ever lived, tell the NCAA-TV audience? "We never substitute on a mistake. All of 'em make mistakes. To pull a boy out after a mistake does more harm to the team, in destroying his confidence, than can ever be made up." Considering Wooden's foregoing statement, it is frightening to contemplate how many potential star athletes are run off in their formative years by insensitive junior high and B-team coaches who announce, "You can't play for me if you make a mistake." It happens, and a lot more frequently than you might expect.

Mistakes? The Pros make mistakes.

Yoe Places Third In Tournament

In the cold weather the Yoemen fell in two games to finish third in the LaGrange Invitational High School Baseball Tournament Saturday.

After closing out 2 hard hitting and fine pitching for the open games, the Yoemen, undefeated in the tournament fell to Hallettsville, the only other undefeated, 13-2, and LaGrange 4-3.

The hard blowing wind gave the pitching staff and unsurmountable amount of trouble in the Hallettsville game, and by the seventh the Yoe staff had walked 18 batters and in the defensive committing 5 errors. On each of the Yoe errors, Hallettsville took the advantage by passing the homeplate rubber.

Using more pitchers than runs, the Yoemen changed the mound five times with Joey Mondrik suffering the loss. Pitching only one inning Mondrik was retired, giving up no runs on three hits, but walking four batters to set up scoring for Hallettsville. Herring went the distance for Hallettsville and marked the tourney win with his hard throwing.

In the final game of the tournament for the Yoemen, LaGrange put together a second inning scoring attack to unseat the Yoemen for second place honors.

LaGrange, in the bottom of the sixth inning, toed home plate twice to mark the 4-3 win over the Yoemen who had set the pace in the contest until that point.

In the bottom of the sixth Jeff Lindeman led off for LaGrange to get on base on an error. Neil Mille followed to the batters box and drew a base on balls.

Bert Vasek drew the walk to load the base and Gary Dipple unloaded a single to left center to give winning passage to Lindeman and Miller.

Sports Spotlight

By Forrest Guess

The Yoe thinclads are showing improvement and ended the Columbus Relays with 60 points to claim 2nd place behind Brenham marking the title with 70 points.

The relays are bumping off some winners around the area with a winning time at the Columbus meet 3:30.5. Running the race are Jafus White (54.0), Willie Bell (52.0), Stanley Manners (53.7), and Michael White (51.3).

The performances of the Yoemen are reaching their potential setting up a fast meet when the district meet is held.

Yoe placing third.

At presstime the Yoemen are engaged in their first district game against Rosebud-Lott.

I visited with Coach Jon Forsythe about the Yoemen's condition after the LaGrange tournament and pre-district workouts.

Forsythe stated, "We had a real good tournament, and I think we are prepared to go into district play. We are going to rotate the pitching staff throughout district. Our defense is really tough and we showed this during the LaGrange tournament."

About district the coach stated, "We can't afford to have any mental errors in our district games. The Rosebud-Lott game will be one of our toughest games because of the competitiveness of the two teams."

If we can stay in rotation with out pitchers, good defense, and good hitting, we can win."

The baseballers have really done a fine job coming up with wins against some tough teams. I'm going to stay with the Yoemen in the district and will say that Yoe High will again represent the district after winning it all in district 23-AA!

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—"Twenty-five about the merits of the advertised color TV console—$249 tised product as compared to for one week only!" Such a bargain might catch the eye of anyone in the market for a television set.

But a tempting value offered at a price almost too good to be true could turn out to be the "bait" that gets you into a store where a salesman will try to "switch" your attention to another, more expensive model or brand.

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division attorneys suggest that you lawyers point out that "bait and switch" advertising has been against the law for almost two years. It was made illegal by the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act.

Even so, reports of such misleading and deceptive sales practices occasionally crop up. Our attorneys say any number of reasons may be given a consumer for not selling him a product as advertised.

A salesman may say that the store is sold out of the item, that it doesn't come with a guarantee, that parts are hard to replace, or that it is generally inferior or defective. And there's always a "more desirable" product close by for him to show you in comparison. Of course, it costs "a bit" more, too!

The best method of dealing with stores that use such tactics is simply not to deal with them, our lawyers advise. But remember, if you ask the salesman for a candid opinion top of the hill

The hill spreads out in front of them, stretching up and up; they can't see over the top. There may be clouds in the distance; but just now they are oblivious to them. They are together, and for the moment, that is all that matters.

Together, the mood, the romance it evokes, are a part of life. But so is that uphill winding road. Traveling through life, you often can't see over the top. You can only give each step along the way the best that is in you.

Fortunately, this is a journey that none of us has to make alone. Your Creator is reaching out to you and the doors of His Church are forever open. If you haven't passed through those doors for a long time, or if you have never passed through them at all, give it a try next Sunday! You will not be alone, and a new perspective may be yours.

Consumer Market Report

Frozen turkey prices have hit last Christmas levels this week, and fryer chickens remain an "excellent" buy at most supermarkets, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatte.

Although egg prices have fluctuated during the past week, they remain a good value, according to the consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

She reported beef prices about the same and pork features few and scattered.

"Fresh pork specials may appear on end chops, liver, and Boston butt roast. Smoked cuts include picnics, bacon, and sausage.

"Beef values generally include arm and blade pot roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steaks, and beef and calf liver."

Fresh fruit buys will be grapefruit, oranges, bananas, apples, pineapples, and pears.

Fresh vegetables at economical prices range from potatoes, mustard and celery to cabbage, carrots, and collards.

Also, turnips and greens, beets, and rutabagas.

NEW INVENTION THE PERIMITECTOR

Nationwide Scientific, the nation's leader in line-carrier (ac transmission) alarm equipment was recently awarded a U.L. listing for the new PERIMITECTOR alarm system. This unique system provides perimeter protection that scares off intruders before they set foot inside. The PERIMITECTOR will provide professional security for the first time at an extremely low price by eliminating internal wiring and large labor bills. This new concept is achieved by transmitting the violation signal over the buildings existing ac wiring through new plug-in transmitter-receiver modules. Result - an extremely effective very low cost alarm system for home or business that accepts all fire and burglar alarm detection devices available.
